Quality assurance through training

Quality and professional expertise are two of the main criteria that determine the reputation of a hospital.

Our selection processes for new team members as well as our internal training contribute towards achieving the highest standard. Meticulous training in line with our mission statement ensures that continual quality assurance is achieved at all levels of our organisation.

Our range of medical services

The strengths of the Merian Iselin Hospital lie in orthopaedics, plastic and reconstructive surgery as well as in sports medicine. Especially in the field of orthopaedics the surgical skills of our affiliated surgeons rank among the best that Switzerland has to offer. Revolutionary arthroscopic and minimal-invasive surgery, combined with the latest anaesthetic procedures, guarantee a minimal length of stay as an inpatient. Highly trained staff, the most skilled surgeons and 6 operating theatres are at your disposal.

Diagnostics and therapeutic post-operative treatment

Our Institute for Radiology has access to image-generating processes for the purposes of diagnostics. Magnetic resonance and computer tomography (MRI and CT), sonography as well as mammography and interventional angio-radiology are at our disposal. This means that we are in a position to pinpoint even diseases that are difficult to diagnose.

A logical professional expansion of our strengths in orthopaedics and sports medicine is the comprehensive, post-operative care of patients by our team of physiotherapists. They will attend to inpatients as well as outpatients until complete recovery is achieved.

Networking as the key to success

Organisations that aspire to be successful in today's health-related fields are forced to engage in networking at all levels. Merian Iselin Hospital does this to a high degree. Whether with other hospitals, with a committed group of medical professionals or at an international level. Merian Iselin Hospital is
